

Partner Promotion at Keelys

Paul Roberts who was taken on by Keelys as an associate partner and head of employment law just fifteen months ago has been promoted to partner by the Lichfield law firm.

Paul covers all areas of employment law advising public and private sector employers. His specific areas of expertise include employment tribunal claims, T.U.P.E and discrimination issues. Paul is also a regular speaker at seminars and conferences on employment law issues.

Prior to joining Keelys at the beginning of 2006 Paul headed up the employment team at Heatons in Birmingham. He also worked for Anthony Collins and Pinsents specialising in employment law.

Paul lives in Lichfield and has an 18 month old baby daughter. Hobbies include playing the drums and foreign travel to unusual destinations such as Cuba, Belize and Beirut.

Managing partner Daniel Keane says he is delighted to offer Paul the promotion to partner after such a short period with the firm and adds:

“Paul’s impressive ability and solid background in employment law has significantly strengthened the employment team with our Corporate department making it one of the most reputable in the region.

“His partnership is well deserved and we wish him every success as a partner within our firm.”
